

Beverly Harp a life-long UU and member of of the Sunrise Movement D.C. Hub. She started working on climate advocacy in high school after Hurricane Irene hit her hometown in Northern New Jersey. As part of D.C. hub leadership, she works to recruit, onboard, and train new members of the ever-growing Sunrise Movement. Before moving to D.C, Beverly completed a Fulbright research grant in India on the distribution of finance for climate change adaptation. Beverly also organizes young people on issues of global climate justice and finance with the organization SustainUS.